Dedication

This Catalogue is dedicated to the brave men and women who serve New Zealand through their work in the New Zealand Defence Force, New Zealand Government, and in Civil Society, and who carry these Challenge Coins with such pride and distinction … their example is our path.

Foreword

When the first edition of the "MacMaster" Catalogue of NZ Commemorative Medals 1941-2007 was published in 2009, it contained an Appendix listing a total of eight Challenge Coins, which were a new concept to the compilers at the time. The number of known types rapidly multiplied, and earned a catalogue of their own two years later. New issues and new discoveries led to an expanded second edition in 2016, followed in turn by a Supplement in 2019.

By this time, as Hamish MacMaster noted in the introduction to the Supplement, Challenge Coins had become an established facet of New Zealand numismatics. Over the years their function has grown to encompass a number of strands: besides their initial function as "coins of identity", i.e. a form of medallic ID or business card for the military in particular, they also took on a commemorative function, marking regimental and other military anniversaries. The natural next step, of course, was the creation of series for collectors – an inevitable development once a market is perceived, which mirrors the situation with other collectables. This dates back at least to the 1790s in Britain, when certain issues of tradesmen's tokens were made especially for collectors, and 1920s Germany, when emergency paper money was produced not only to fill a need but also to fill collector albums!

Another strand followed by Challenge Coins is the emergence of governmental and civilian issues, in many cases following a similar pattern to the military items described above (calling cards, awards, commemoratives, series, etc.)

There is also a measure of crossover between these various themes. As with all things, Challenge Coins can be difficult to pigeonhole. Are they a breed apart, are they commemorative medals, or do they contain elements of both? Because of their commemorative and medallic nature a number of items are recorded both in this volume and in the separate catalogues of NZ commemorative medals and their digital updates. Others (e.g. those produced by numismatic societies) that were initially recorded as Challenge Coins have now been reclassified and are catalogued as regular commemorative medals instead.

And then there are the international issues, almost entirely military, that include or mention NZ. These were listed in a separate section in the 2019 Supplement, and that approach is continued here.

Since the paper Supplement was published in 2019, Rodney Hall has been releasing monthly digital updates of new discoveries, new issues, varieties, etc., to the point where three separate sources have needed to be consulted: the substantive 2016 catalogue, the 2019 Supplement, and the latest digital update. Now Rodney has taken on the unenviable task of combining all three in digital form, and has made admirable progress in a very short space of time. The digital nature of the product allows for a more organic structure, with scope for regular additions and updates as appropriate. Rodney is to be congratulated for taking this now almost 15-year project to a new stage, and this new digital edition deserves a place on the (virtual) numismatic bookshelf of every NZ collector, whether a specialist in the field or the more general enthusiast.

This 3rd edition will be a purely digital edition … it is an amalgamation of all challenge coin entries previously displayed in the 1st edition, 2nd edition, 2nd edition supplement, and the past 3 years of monthly new discoveries since the last printed edition was produced back in 2019-Mar-01 … it will be freely available from the RNSNZ website – www.rnsnz.org.nz/collector-info/catalogues - and will also be sent out on the 1st of every month to those on the challenge coin mailing list.

Many thanks to everyone whose input made this 3rd edition possible;

To … Hamish MacMaster and Martin Purdy for their ground breaking work on the 1st and 2nd editions, without which this 3rd edition would not have been possible;

To … the many collectors and dealers who have opted to remain anonymous, but made available images and details to help complete our listings.

All efforts have been made to ensure the information contained in this 3rd edition is as accurate as possible.

Any errors or omissions are, of course, my own, and the compiler would welcome any corrections or updates.

About the Authors …

Rodney Hall

Rodney was born in an England still gripped by food rationing and the effects of austerity following the ravages of World War II … at 18 months of age, he travelled by plane (BOAC Argonaut) via the Middle East and Ceylon to Singapore (a three-day trip with flying only during daylight hours).

He spent the next 13 years overseas in Malaya, Singapore and finally on the island of Zanzibar in East Africa, and has fond memories of sea, sand, and sun on the beaches there, with boarding school just a plane, train, and bus ride away in Kenya.

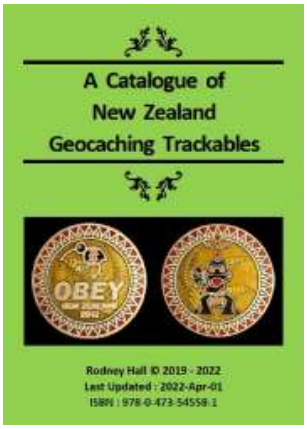

It was during these years in East Africa that Rodney started collecting world coins, garnered by his father who travelled extensively around the world as a fisheries scientist.

After returning by ship (the P&O liner Chusan) via Cape Town to England, he could not wait to leave again, and in 1978 with a young family in tow, emigrated to New Zealand.

Tastes change, and Rodney went on to collect world banknotes, New Zealand commemorative medals and currently New Zealand challenge coins.

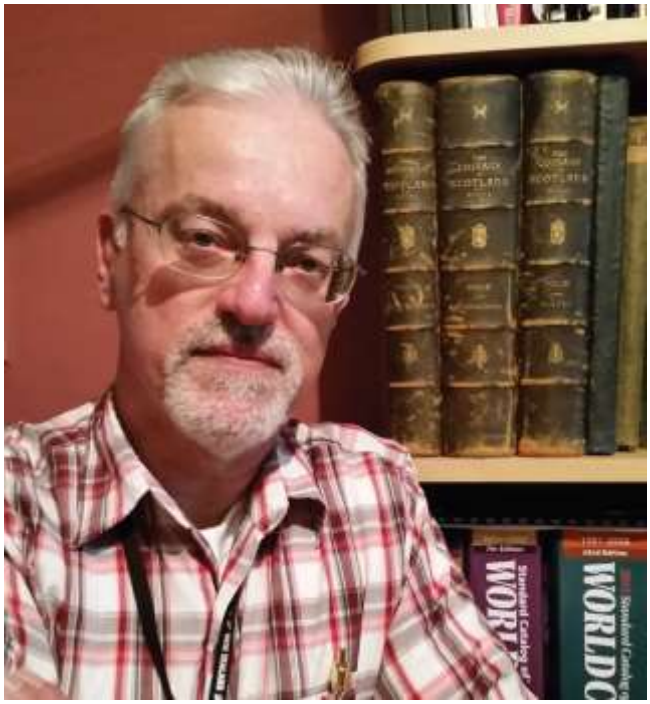

Along with his interest in New Zealand Challenge Coins, Rodney also collects New Zealand Geocaching Trackables (Geocoins and Pathtags), and Philippine Challenge Coins. His main focus is now on research, and he is actively gathering data for future electronic catalogues in these areas.

I am indebted to Martin Purdy and Hamish MacMaster for their ground breaking work in compiling and publishing the Catalogue of New Zealand Challenge Coins (1st edition published in 2011 and 2nd edition published in 2016)

Martin Purdy FRNSNZ

Martin arrived in New Zealand as a five-year-old in 1970 with a matchbox full of British coins that eventually formed the basis for his collection.

The discovery of coins with legends in foreign languages and different alphabets led him to a career as a translator, though he has remained an active collector and student of coins and medals for over 45 years.

A former President of both the Royal Numismatic Society of New Zealand (2003-2006) and the Wellington Coin Club (1989-1994), and Secretary of the RNSNZ (1990-1997), he was engaged in editing and publishing the Society's Journal for over twenty-five years, becoming a Fellow of the Society in 2003.

More recently he collaborated with Hamish MacMaster on larger-scale undertakings such as the first and second editions of this Catalogue (2011, 2016) and the two editions of the catalogue of post-1940 Commemorative Medals published in 2009 and 2014. A third edition is in preparation.

In collaboration with Rodney, a supplement to the 2nd edition was compiled and published in 2019.

A keen vintage car enthusiast, Martin also edits Sphinx-NZ, the magazine of the Armstrong Siddeley Car Club in New Zealand.

Hamish MacMaster FRNSNZ

Hamish was born in Christchurch, where he developed an early and passionate interest in coins and medals.

Hamish has been a member of the Royal Numismatic Society of NZ for over twenty-five years, serving as its Assistant Secretary (2003) and Secretary (2009-2013), and is currently a Vice President (2014-).

In addition to regular articles for the Society's Journal, he has written, in collaboration with Martin Purdy, the 2009 Catalogue of New Zealand Commemorative Medals 1941-2007, and its updated and expanded 2nd edition in 2014; and the 2011 New Zealand Challenge Coins: A Catalogue, and its second edition in 2016.

In 2010 he became a Fellow of the Society.

Pursuing a diplomatic career in the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and Trade, Hamish served as New Zealand's Ambassador to the Islamic Republic of Iran, accredited also to Afghanistan and Pakistan (2004-2009), and was subsequently Ambassador to the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia (2015), resident in Riyadh and also accredited to Bahrain, Kuwait, and Oman. In 2016 his list of (non-resident) accreditations was expanded when he was appointed as New Zealand's first ever Ambassador to the Republic of Yemen. At the time of publication, Hamish has recently returned from serving again as Ambassador to Iran.

Challenge Coins – What are they …

A challenge coin is a small coin or medallion, bearing an organization's insignia or emblem and carried by the organization's members. Traditionally, they might be given to prove membership when challenged and to enhance morale. They are also collected by service members and law enforcement personnel. Historically, challenge coins were presented by unit commanders in recognition of special achievement by a member of the unit. They could also be exchanged in recognition of visits to an organization.

Modern day challenge coins may feature popular culture attributes or organizational values. Modern challenge coins are made in a variety of sizes and are often made using popular culture references, including superheroes and other well-known characters in a way that creates a parody.

The Origins of the Challenge Coin

There are several stories detailing the origins of the challenge coin. Many originate in popular culture based on current events.

The Roman Empire rewarded soldiers by presenting them with coins to recognize their achievements.

Challenge coins were also known as "Portrait Medals" during the Renaissance, and were often used to commemorate specific events involving royalty, nobility, or other types of well-to-do individuals. The medals would be given as gifts or awards, and people also exchanged them with friends and associates. The most common format was for one side to depict the patron while the other showed something that represented that individual's family, house, lineage, and / or seal.

The first instance of using a coin as a response to an actual challenge may come from the 17th century religious wars in France. Following King Louis XIV's 1685 revocation of the Edict of Nantes, French Protestants began to suffer persecution by the state for their illegal religion. Many Protestants fled France to find religious freedom elsewhere. Among those who chose to remain in France were some from a Protestant group known as Huguenots who were forced to conduct their religious services in secret. In order to avoid infiltration by state spies the Huguenots began to carry their méreau communion coin. When challenged while trying to gain entry to Protestant church services the Huguenot would produce his méreau coin as a token to show allegiance with the Protestant Church and be admitted entry.

According to the most common story, challenge coins originated during World War I. Before the entry of the United States into the war in 1917 American volunteers from all parts of the country filled the newly formed flying squadrons. Some were wealthy scions attending colleges such as Yale and Harvard who quit in mid-term to join the war.

In one squadron, a wealthy lieutenant ordered medallions struck in solid bronze and presented them to his unit. One young pilot placed the medallion in a small leather pouch that he wore about his neck. Shortly after acquiring the medallion, the pilot's aircraft was severely damaged by ground fire. He was forced to land behind enemy lines and was immediately captured by a German patrol. In order to discourage his escape, the Germans took all of his personal identification except for the small leather pouch around his neck. In the meantime, he was taken to a small French town near the front. Taking advantage of a bombardment that night, he escaped. However, he was without personal identification. He succeeded in avoiding German patrols by donning civilian attire and reached the front lines. With great difficulty, he crossed no-man's land. Eventually, he stumbled onto a French outpost. Saboteurs had plagued the French in the sector. They sometimes masqueraded as civilians and wore civilian clothes. Not recognizing the young pilot's American accent, the French thought him to be a saboteur and made ready to execute him. He had no identification to prove his allegiance, but he did have his leather pouch containing the medallion. He showed the medallion to his would-be executioners and one of his French captors recognized the squadron insignia on the medallion. They delayed his execution long enough for him to confirm his identity. Instead of shooting him they gave him a bottle of wine.

Back at his squadron, it became tradition to ensure that all members carried their medallion or coin at all times. This was accomplished through challenge in the following manner: a challenger would ask to see the medallion, if the challenged could not produce a medallion, they were required to buy a drink of choice for the member who challenged them. If the challenged member produced a medallion, then the challenging member was required to pay for the drink. This tradition continued throughout the war and for many years after the war while surviving members of the squadron were still alive.

According to another story, challenge coins date back to World War II and were first used by Office of Strategic Service personnel who were deployed in Nazi held France. Similarly, Jim Harrington proposed a Jolly sixpence club amongst the junior officers of the 107th Infantry. The coins were simply a local coin used as a "bona fides" during a personal meeting to help verify a person's identity. There would be specific aspects such as type of coin, date of the coin, etc. that were examined by each party. This helped prevent infiltration into the meeting by a spy who would have to have advance knowledge of the meeting time and place as well as what coin was to be presented, amongst other signals, as bona fides.

While a number of legends place the advent of challenge coins in the post-Korean Conflict era (some as late as the Vietnam War), or even later, Colonel William "Buffalo Bill" Quinn had coins made for those who served in his 17th Infantry Regiment during 1950 to 1958. The 17th Infantry Regiment "Buffalo" coin is the oldest challenge coin known in existence. On one side of the coin is a picture of a buffalo with the date 1812, which signified the year the unit was formed. On the other side was the 17th Infantry patch with the dates 1950 – 1958 and the word Korea to signify the tour. The cross and fort icon represent the units heritage which started in Cuba during the civil war. This coin is recognized as one of the oldest and most valuable challenge coins in circulation. Very few remain available and most are thought to be in private collections.

Colonel Verne Green, commander of the 10th Special Forces Group-A, embraced the idea. He had a special coin struck with the unit's badge and motto in 1969. Until the 1980s, his unit was the only unit with an active challenge coin tradition.

There is another story about an American soldier scheduled to rendezvous with Philippine guerrillas during WWII. As the story goes, he carried a Philippine solid silver coin that was stamped on one side with the unit insignia. The coin was used to verify, to the guerrillas, that the soldier was their valid contact for the mission against the Japanese. Two coins issued by various units of the Belgian Air Component

The challenge coin tradition has spread to other military units, in all branches of service, and even to non-military organizations as well as the United States Congress, which produces challenge coins for members of Congress to give to constituents. Today, challenge coins are given to members upon joining an organization, as an award to improve morale, and sold to commemorate special occasions or as fundraisers. In the Air Force, military training instructors award an airman's coin to new enlisted personnel upon completion of their United States Air Force Basic Military Training and to new officers upon completion of the Air Force Officer Training School.

New Zealand Challenge Coins

In the New Zealand context, the practice of carrying a coin designed specifically for a unit appears to have become popular, initially within the Army. Early New Zealand examples are attributable to the New Zealand Special Air Services. The New Zealand involvement in Afghanistan from 2002 and close exposure to the USA Military has in all likelihood played a role in the growing popularity of challenge coins within the New Zealand Defence Force. Increasingly common within all units of the NZDF, challenge coins have more recently also been used as standard presentation items.

The issue of NZDF Challenge Coins owes much to the industry of one man. Born in Yorkshire, Clive Robinson arrived in New Zealand in 1964. A measure cutter by trade in England, Clive joined the tailoring division of Christchurch company Lane Walker Rudkin where he worked for twenty years. In 1987 he began working at NZDF as a Defence Clothing Adviser and is now the Senior Adviser Insignia and Ceremonial Items.

Clive has been responsible for the design and development of challenge coins for NZDF since 2006. His first was a request from the Sergeant Major of the Army for such a coin. He has now worked on over 200 challenge coins for NZDF.

Many of the items listed in the following pages were produced during the past ten years. It is now possible to find them issued by other New Zealand government departments, Government Ministers, Ambassadors, and civil organisations such as the Salvation Army and Civil Defence.

Challenge coins are moderately inexpensive to design and produce. The two most common processes by which they are manufactured are zinc-alloy castings or die-struck bronze or brass.

Many of the recent NZDF coins have been struck in Singapore by Eng Leong Medallic Industries (ELM). Since 1968, ELM has been a leading brand in the Asia Pacific region in the field of Orders, Decorations and Medals. Wundurra is an Australian micro-business manufacturing challenge coins / medallions and has produced a number for New Zealand units, including those serving in Timor Leste. Other examples have been manufactured in Korea and the United States. A significant number of the New Zealand-made coins have come from Millard Manufacturing (now Mayer & Toye), a Wellington-based company established in 1982.

In addition to the team-building function, the appeal of collecting challenge coins might well lie in the fact that many of them are attributable to specific individuals or units. In addition, there is a strong ‘commemorative’ element – many were issued around significant dates in the New Zealand Defence Force calendar, commemorating a RNZN ship commissioning, RNZAF anniversary, visit, or NZDF deployment etc.

Challenge Coins – Etiquette & Rules …

How to Practice Proper Military Challenge Coin Etiquette

The challenge coin's history originates in the armed forces – they are meant to boost morale in the military. In fact, military challenge coins are often given out as a reward or as a representation of a certain organization. The coins often have military logos printed on them and sometimes show the number of years the recipient served.

You do not have to have a relation to the military in order to use challenge coins, but you have to learn the rules. There is a certain etiquette you should abide by when using the challenge coins. Whether you are giving someone a coin or initiating a coin check, keep some of these challenge coin rules in mind.

What Exactly Is a Coin Check ?

You should know what the coin challenge game is before you actually play it. Traditionally, when a service member or veteran initiates a coin check, they are trying to connect with other veterans and military members.

A person can yell or call out that they are starting a coin check. They also have the option to loudly slam their coin on a hard surface like a table or on the floor, so listen carefully. Be careful not to accidentally drop your coin on the floor – you will automatically start a coin check. This is a punishment for not taking good care of your coin.

Everyone who owns a coin has to show it during coin checks. Make sure you always carry your coin with you, as coin checks can happen at any time.

Military Challenge Coin Etiquette

Challenge coins are honourable symbols that deserve to be taken care of. If you are an owner of a challenge coin, remember these rules for the next time you hit the bar or hang out with your buddies.

1 Always Explain the Rules
The rules of the game should always be explained to anyone who has been given a coin. It is unfair to initiate a coin check when you have not explained the rules beforehand.

2 Stay Close to Your Coin
Try to keep your coin somewhere on your person. If you are seen without your coin during a check, you will be responsible for buying drinks. You will not be able to redeem yourself that night either, as you cannot be challenged more than once.

Not only is it important to carry your coin at all times, but it is also important not to put it down far from your seat. You will lose the game if you have to take more than four steps to get to your coin.

3 Challenge With Caution

If you are thinking about starting a challenge the next time you are at the bar with your friends, you should know that there could be some consequences. When everyone who is challenged pulls out a coin, you will be paying for all of their drinks.

4 Do Not Hand Over Coins

Putting your coin in the hand of someone else during a challenge means that you are giving it to them. Instead, showcase the coin on a table, hold it in the palm of your hand, or hold it up. Anyone who wants to take a closer look at the coin is obligated to bring it back to that spot.

5 Do Not Lose Your Coin

You will need to immediately replace your coin if you happen to lose it. Keep in mind that you are not exempt from the game even if you lose your coin. That means you will be paying for a ton of drinks.

6 Challenge Coins Are Not Jewellery

You should not wear your coin like a bracelet or a belt buckle. Definitely, do not drill a hole in it to make a necklace. If you want to carry it around your neck, you can put it in a pouch that doubles as a necklace. Try to keep your coin as clean as possible. Dirty coins are a sign of disrespect.

7 Challenges Can Happen Anywhere at Any Time

Do not be blindsided by the next coin check. Always remember to take your coin with you before leaving your home because checks can happen at any place and time.

8 No Exceptions

Sorry, but there are no exceptions to these rules. Whether you are naked or clothed, you better be able to show your coin.

When to Give Someone a Challenge Coin

Maybe you want to honour someone for a good deed or for their hard work. There is no better way than rewarding them with a challenge coin. Even if you're not a veteran or a member of the armed forces, you can still use custom challenge coins.

Challenge coins are used among firefighters, police, businesses and even members of fraternal organizations. Some people even decide to use them as business cards – they are much more memorable and less likely to be thrown out. Challenge coins are also frequently sold to raise money for a cause.

You can use challenge coins to reward employees after the completion of a special project or if a huge accomplishment has been made. The coin can be a representation of the achievement. When an employee or member is recognized for a job well done, they will be more satisfied with their job or organization.

How to Give Someone a Challenge Coin

Once you find the right moment to award someone a challenge coin, you have to make sure that you properly hand it to the recipient. Transferring the coin should not be dramatic or obvious.

Many veterans and soldiers had their coin handed to them during a handshake. A commander holds the coin in their hand until they get to shake hands with the soldier. The coin is then silently passed on to the soldier while they shake hands.

Glossary of Terms

Numismatics (ancient Greek: νομισματική) is the scientific study of money and its history in all its varied forms … while numismatists are often characterised as studying coins, the discipline also includes the study of banknotes, medals, medallions, tokens, and stock / bond certificates

Sub-fields or related fields of numismatics are:

Exonumia is the study and collection of coin-like objects such as tokens, challenge coins, geocoins, medals, medallions, and other items used in place of legal currency or for commemoration (also known as paranumismatics)

Notaphily is the study and collection of paper money or banknotes

Philately is the study and collection of postage stamps and other related items

Scripophily is the study and collection of stock and bond certificates

Term	Description
Alloy	Homogeneous mixture of two or more elements, where the resulting compound has metallic properties … common coin alloys include cupro-nickel (copper and nickel) and bronze (copper and tin)
Annealing	Process of heating and cooling metal in order to relieve stresses … this is often done with coin blanks to make the metal less brittle before striking
Assay	To analyse and determine the purity of metal
Attribution	Identifier of a coin such as date, mint, denomination, or variety
Bag Mark	Surface mark, or nick, on a coin usually from contact with other coins in bag … more often seen on large coins … also called “Contact Mark”
Base Metal	Non-precious metal or alloy containing no gold or silver … common base metals used in coinage include nickel and copper
Beading	Raised dot border along the rim of a coin
Bi-Metallic	A coin comprised of two different metals, bonded together
Blank	Also refers to the un-struck or flat side of a uniface coin
Blank	Prepared piece of metal on which the coin is struck … also called a “Planchet” or “Flan”
Brass	Copper based alloy with zinc
Bronze	Copper based alloy with tin
Circulated	Term used to indicate a coin that has wear
Clad Coinage	Coins that have a core and outer layer made of different metals

Term	Description
Coin alignment	A method of striking in which the obverse and reverse dies are aligned 180 degrees from each other
Collar	Outer ring of the die chamber that holds the blank in place while the obverse and reverse are being stamped
Commemorative	A special coin issued to honour an outstanding person, place, or event
Condition	The physical state of a coin
Contact Marks	Minor abrasions on coins created by contact with other coins … also called "Bag Mark"
Counterfeit	A fake coin made so that people will think it is genuine
Cud	A defect from a chipped die
Denticles	Small toothlike projecting points on the inside edge of coins
Designer	Artist or creator of a coin's design
Device	Pattern or emblem used in the design of a coin
Die	An engraved stamp used for impressing a design (images, value, and mottoes) upon a blank piece of metal to make a coin
Die Clash	Caused when a coin planchet fails to be placed between two dies during the minting process, causing the dies to smash together … the design of one or both may impress into the opposite die, causing a "shadow" of the design to appear on subsequent coins minted with the damaged dies … the impact of the two dies may also result in die cracks or defects
Die Crack	Fine raised line on a coin that was caused by a crack in the die
Die Defect	Imperfection of various sorts caused by a damaged die … may refer to a crack or clash or a chip out of the die, etc … a defect from a chipped die is called a cud
Die Marriage	The combination of a particular obverse and reverse set of dies … if one die is replaced a new die marriage is created
Die State	A variation in appearance to a coin struck by a single die, resulting from wear or alteration of the die … for example, the presence or absence of die cracks may signal a specific die state
Die Variety	Minor variation in a die, including repunching, doubling, or deliberate minor changes to the die design
Dipped, Dipping	Chemical cleaning of a coin with a diluted acid … this "cleanliness" is a result of the surface of the coin being dissolved by the acid … dipped coins almost always have a lower numismatic value than when they were in their former "dirty" state hence most numismatists do not recommend dipping or any other method of cleaning coins as this will reduce the coin's value
Double strike	A coin where a die is struck, bounced, then struck again, offset from first strike

Term	Description
Edge -v- Rim	These two terms are often used interchangeably, a trap that we have also previously fallen into … for this volume we have adopted the following strict distinction Edge: The "third side" of a coin or medal, the part that stands vertically when the item is laid flat on either face … not visible when you look at either face … see Edge Patterns entry below Rim: The raised border around each face of a coin or medal … visible when you look at either face … see Rim Patterns entry below The edges of most challenge coins are plain (see Edge Pattern Example entry below), but will occasionally contain a maker's mark, e.g. "ELM" (see below) or the Platatac symbol (see below) … the rims take various forms (see Rim Pattern Example entry below) … we have also noted "Cartwheel type" (aka. BROAD) rims, which are much broader than the other rim types and often contain incuse legends, similar to those on Britain's copper "cartwheel" coinage of 1797
Edge Pattern Examples	#1 Plain (or Flat) #2 Inscribed (or Lettered)  #3 Mixed Plain / Reeded  #4 Oblique  #5 Reeded (or Milled)  #6 Security  #7 Platatac Insignia  #8 Various ELM Inscr
Effigy	The image or likeness of a person, usually on the obverse of a coin
Electrotype	Reproduction made by electrodeposition frequently used in museum displays
Enamel	Addition of coloured hard or soft enamel to one or both sides of a coin
Engraver	Artist who sculpts a clay model of a coin's design in bas relief … or who cuts the image of a design onto a die
Error	An improperly produced coin, overlooked in production, and later released into circulation
Essai, Essay	A trial strike … also a strike intended to evaluate the design
Exergue	A segment of the coin design separated by a line (usually indicating the ground in the design) in which a legend / date is inscribed
Fantasy	Generally a privately issued coin not a unit issued coin
Field	The portion of a coin's surface not used for design or inscription

Term	Description
Flan	Prepared piece of metal on which the coin is struck … also called a “planchet” or “blank”
Hairlines	Tiny lines or scratches on coins, usually caused by cleaning or polishing
Hub	Positive-image punch that impresses the coin’s design onto a die
Incuse	Opposite of “Relief” … the part of a coin’s design that is pressed into the surface (intaglio)
Inscription	Lettering and wording on a coin
Kiwi Style	A range of styles of Kiwi have appeared on New Zealand challenge coins … these are the major varieties in chronological order of appearance …
Kiwi Style Examples	Kiwi Style #1  Kiwi Style #2  Kiwi Style #3  Kiwi Style #4  Kiwi Style #5  Kiwi Style #6  Kiwi Style #7  Kiwi Style #8 (Roundel)  Kiwi Style #9

Legend	Principal inscription on a coin
Lettered Edge	The outside edge of a coin containing an inscription
Low Relief	A coin with the raised design slightly above the field
Master Die	Original die from which working hubs are made
Medal Alignment	A method of striking coins in which both the obverse and reverse dies are aligned in the same direction
Milled Coinage	Machine-struck coinage In contrast to hammered coinage and cast coinage
Milled Edge	Edge of a coin with vertical grooved lines around the perimeter … also called a “Reeded Edge” … see Edge Patterns above
Mint	A place where coins of a country are manufactured under government authority
Mint Error	Defective coin produced by a mint
Mint Mark	Small letter (or other symbol) indicating at which mint the coin was struck
Mintage	The quantity of coins produced
Mis-Strike	Off centre striking of a coin
Mule	Coin struck from two dies never intended to be used together
Obsolete	A coin design or type that is no longer produced
Obverse	Opposite of “Reverse” … front or heads side of coin (often shortened to “Obv”)
Off-Center	Describes a coin that has received misaligned strike from the coin press and has portions of its design missing

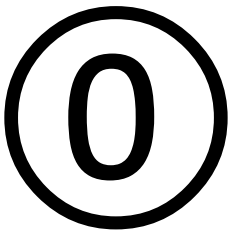

Term	Description
Over Graded	Coin in worse condition than stated
Overstrike	A new coin produced with a previously struck coin used as the planchet
Patina	Surface film caused by oxidation, usually green or brown, mostly found on older silver, copper, or bronze coins
Pattern	An experimental or trial piece, generally of a new design or metal
Planchet	Prepared piece of metal on which the coin is struck … also called a “Blank” or “Flan”
Reeded Edge	Edge of a coin with vertical grooved lines around the perimeter … also called a “Milled Edge” … see Edge Patterns above
Relief	Opposite of “Incuse” … part of the coin’s design that is raised above the field
Restrike	A coin that is minted using the original dies
Reverse	Opposite of “Obverse” … back or tails side of the coin (often shortened to “Rev”)
Riddler	A machine that screens out blanks (planchets) that are the wrong size or shape
Rim -V- Edge	See Edge -V- Rim entry above
Rim Pattern Examples	#1 Plain (or Flat)  #2 Crosscut  #3 Oblique  #4 Rope  #5 Spur  #6 Wave  #7 Broad (or Cartwheel)
Sample	A trial strike … also a strike intended to evaluate the design
Stainless Steel	A combination of iron, carbon, and another element, usually chromium, to prevent rusting
Tombac	A type of brass
Type	Coin’s basic distinguishing design
Uncirculated	Coin that has never been used, thus retaining all or most of its original lustre
Uniface	A coin struck with the design on one side only (the obverse)

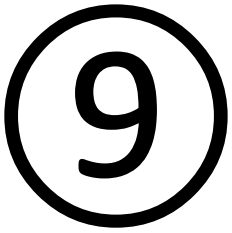

Term	Description
Unique	Item of which only one is known to exist
Upset	A coin struck on which the obverse and reverse are out of alignment
Upsetting Mill	A machine that raises the rim on both sides of a blank (planchet)
Variety	A minor change from the basic design type of a coin
Zinc	A grey inexpensive metal, usually alloyed with copper to make brass coins

NZDF/AFG
Deployment – Afghanistan

From 2003 to 2013 New Zealand had a Provincial Reconstruction Team (PRT) based in Bamyan Province in central Afghanistan. Comprising around 140 NZDF personnel, and including representatives of other nations such as the United States and Singapore, the NZ PRT has helped the Hazara people of Bamyan to rebuild their province after the destruction of the Taliban era.

The term "CRIB" denotes the New Zealand PRTs in Bamyan, e.g., CRIB VI is the 6th NZ PRT in that province. The final Crib rotation, Crib 21, left in 2013.

Note that gaps have been left in the numbering to allow for undiscovered "Crib" issues to be recorded in sequence. From the 1st to 2nd edition s, the number of known Crib coins has more than doubled from seven to 15. There is no evidence to suggest the early PRTs (Cribs 1-4) issued such coins.

All of the PRTs in Afghanistan operated under the wider control of the United States and this is why the insignia of the 82nd Airborne, 101st Airborne and 10th Mountain Divisions appear on some of the PRT coins in this section (for examples see AFG/2, AFG/14 and AFG/19b below).

Besides the "Crib" series, challenge coins for the SAS and other unit deployments are also included here.

SAS
New Zealand Special Air Service

At a ceremony held at the Marine Corps Air Station, Miramar, California on 2004-Dec-07, the United States Navy Presidential Unit Citation was awarded to the NZSAS and the other units that comprised the Combined Joint Special Operations Task Force-SOUTH / Task Force K-BAR between 2001-Oct-17 and 2002-Mar-30 … it was awarded for "extraordinary heroism and outstanding performance of duty in action" and noted that those awarded established "the benchmark standard of professionalism, tenacity, courage, tactical brilliance, and operational brilliance, and operational excellence, while demonstrating superb esprit de corps and maintaining the highest measures of combat readiness"

Join the Royal Numismatic Society of New Zealand

You are warmly invited to join the Royal Numismatic Society of New Zealand. The Society has operated since 1931 to promote all aspects of numismatics in New Zealand, including the study and collecting of coins, tokens, banknotes, and medals.

The Society offers you all this:

- A high-quality printed Journal with research and articles for the permanent record, usually published once a year with the occasional bonus issue
- Two information-packed Newsletters each year, normally in May and September
- Periodic postal auctions, Society Conventions, fairs, and promotions
- Access to the members' part of the Society web site
- Meetings where you can learn more, trade with fellow collectors and enjoy your interests with fellow enthusiasts. Normal monthly meetings are held at St Andrew's Centre, 30 The Terrace, Wellington, at 7:30 pm on the last Wednesday of the month. Check venues first as occasional meetings are held at other locations.
- The opportunity to join with an extensive membership base to advance collectors' interests.
- Participation in our Facebook community: http://tinyurl.com/pe529bo
- Access to our comprehensive library of numismatic material

The current subscription is
